GNASHES FALSE PLATES IN PAIN; PAY IS REFUSED

Because E. J. Jolly, insurance adjuster and well known in Oakland's club, social and church life, found, after Dr. W. E. Hildout, dentist, had made him a plate of upper teeth, that he was minus certain teeth in his lower jaw, leaving no mending place for upper and lower masticators, he consented to have a lower plate made, according to Dr. Hildout's testimony before Judge Harry W. Pulcifer in his suit against Jolly for $25.

But when the lower plate was finished Jolly declared it wouldn't begin to answer the purpose, it was claimed. He said it didn't fit, it hurt him when he tried to eat and much of the balance of the time and wasn't at all as he had been led to expect it would be. He offered to pay $24 and call it square, but balked at anything like $25.

Dr. A. O. Wright, expert on tooth plates and their operation, testified that new plates always hurt some and never were quite as enjoyable as a perfect set of nature's own.

Judge Pulcifer took it under advisement.

A whist party is planned for next Friday evening by Pionmont Park, No. 87, Native Daughters of the Golden West. It will be given in the Native Sons hall. Mrs. Nell Reilly has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

TAXICAB DRIVER IN JAIL DURING DIVORCE TRIAL

Fear that he would be late to jail caused Edward Strasser, Oakland taxicab driver, to decline an invitation by Superior Judge A. P. St. Sure to be present in the superior court here Friday when Strasser's wife will sue for divorce.

Strasser was sentenced by Judge John Paul of Albany to twenty-four hours in jail for speeding, sentence to begin Thursday at midnight. He notified Judge St. Sure that he could not be in at the divorce suit because of his prior engagement in jail.

WARRANT ISSUED IN HIGHWAY ACCIDENT

RICHMOND, March 23.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Lounie Sanborn of Oakland, upon a charge of driving a car and of two other machines on the curve at the San Pablo highway grade on last Sunday. Sanborn is charged with having wrecked his own car and damaged that of L. P. Fullam, 2477 Champion avenue, Oakland, and that of J. B. Trengling of Redwood.

Traffic Officer Lambert has recovered the automobile of Mrs. J. R. Bridon, 261 Perkins avenue, Oakland, stolen from in front of the Oakland Orpheum theater. The machine was found a short distance from the highway in San Pablo. It is believed that three boys took the car and drove it until the ignition went out of order and then left the machine.

Thrown from his motorcycle by a speeding auto, who did not stop to render assistance, C. M. Webster, 24, 3310 Octavia street, employed by the Sunset Lumber Company, received serious injuries when taken to the Emergency hospital by the police. The collision happened at 8 o'clock this morning at the corner of Twenty-fourth avenue and Sixteenth street.

Steward Frank Davidson found Webster to be suffering from severe lacerations on the left leg, both hands and chest. Webster said the speeding car caught the rear wheel of his motorcycle in trying to dodge behind him without slackening speed. The police are endeavoring to locate the auto which violated the law by speeding away without rendering assistance.

DAVE PLANS FOR STATE BUILDING

Steps to launch a campaign to include a State exposition building in the group of proposed civic center about Lake Merritt and the Municipal Auditorium were taken this morning by Mayor John L. Davis and leaders asking co-operation and support in the move sent to the boards of supervisors of every county in California.

The plan is asking also that different legislative delegations support a move for a State appropriation for the proposed building, in which it is planned to exhibit the products and resources of every county.

The plan as outlined by Mayor Davis is to have the building erected by the State on a site donated by the city of Oakland, and to have the State maintain, free of charge, permanent exhibits from the different counties.

SIMS ON STAND FACES NEW FIRE

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Cross-examination of Rear Admiral Sims was continued today before the Senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war, with Senators Pittman of Nevada and Trammell of Florida. Democrats, undertaking to show that the United States was not wholly responsible for heavy submarine losses during the two months immediately following the entry of the United States into the war.

Admiral Sims said adoption of the convey system marked the turning point of the war and that the allies had to wait for American co-operation before the plan could be made effective. "Our destroyers and other ships should have sailed the night we declared war, and there was no good reason why they should not have done so," he said. "If they had, 2,500,000 tons of shipping would have been saved, and the United States would have had an army of 1,000,000 men in France by May 1, 1918. The fact was that after we declared war many American ships had to be placed in drydock and repaired before they could be sent to the war zone."

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Schwieger devotes his log for May 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 to accounts of the weather and his flights from squadrons of patrolling war-craft. He tells of efforts to attack merchant ships. On May 2 he was about to open fire against a vessel which turned out to be a neutral—the Swedish ship Hibernia. On May 3 he sank the "Earl of Latham" of Liverpool and turned the crew adrift in small boats.

Continuing the log, the captain-lieutenant wrote:

Intermittently thicker fog. Tanks blown out as it had cleared up somewhat. Trip continued above water with empty diving tanks. A very large steamer sighted starboard ahead. Drove at her for attack above surface as there was no danger for the boat to be rammed or shot with this poor visibility. Steamer turns off hard when sighting U-20. Further pursuit above surface does not seem to me to be dangerous in the fog. Held toward the steamer and shot at her with artillery. After we have hit her twice she disappears for a short time in the fog. When the target again becomes visible shoot at her with shells. 11 a. m.

Copies of advertisements appearing in New York newspapers and of medals commemorative of the sinking of the Lusitania. The advertisements were ordered printed by the then German ambassador, Count Bernstorff and were dated April 22. The Lusitania sailed May 1, 1915, and was sunk May 7. The medals were struck and circulated in Germany twenty-four hours ahead of the actual sinking, although Schweiger, in his narrative, says he met the Lusitania by accident.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

What It Is and How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force In Many Instances

SHOULD BE PRESCRIBED BY EVERY DOCTOR AND USED IN EVERY HOSPITAL
Says Editor of "Physicians' Who's Who."

Take plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Merely if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness. Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphorus than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Food Drug and Chemical Co. and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying strength and nerve force and to enliven the blood. Joseph D. Harrigan, former Visiting Specialist to North Eastern Dispensary, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic, or run-down, take a natural unadulterated substance such as bitro-phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body, and mind and power of endurance." Bitro-phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound referred to in the National Standard Dispensary as being an excellent tonic and nerve and a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence, strength and purity of its substance is beyond question, for every Bitro-phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopoeia test requirements. Bitro-phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with any of the nostrums, so-called tonics or widely advertised "cure-alls." While Bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not get better put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods. Clean bow shot (bronze torpedo) two and a half meter depth adjustment at 200-meter range. Shot his engine room with little effect.

QUARRY SETTLES AT STERN

"Ship settles somewhat astern, then remains lying in that position. On this account make toward her with fire with guns at stern waterline. Thus ascertain that the pointed overhanging stern is 'Candidate' of Liverpool. Now sinking slowly. 11:40 a. m. New steamer on horizon following converging course. Steamer soon disappears in fog bank. 12:10 p. m. Fair visibility. Quick dive because comes out of fog, square off port. Tried with high-speed to get bow shot position. Attack given up. Vessel runs passenger liner of White Star line, of about 14,000 tons. Carried no flag. 1:45 p. m. Weather clears. Steamer comes to anchor. Advance to attack. 2:04 p. m. Clean bow shot. Torpedo hit. Crew immediately quits ship. Name painted over. No stern flag. (Written on the edge of the log was the penciled marginal note: Steamer Centurion.) May 6 (continued). 2:12 p. m. Thick fog."

OFFICIAL WORDING OF SCHWIEGER'S LOG

May 6 (continued). 2:15 p. m. Submerged to 24 meters and steered 240 degrees so as to hold into sea. Thick fog. A further advance toward Liverpool, the proper district for operations, is given up for the following reasons: (1) Because of thick fog during the last two days of calmness and the reading of the barometer, it is not to be expected that it will get clearer during the next few days. (2) In the foggy weather a sighting on time of the strong enemy watch, fishing smacks and destroyers, in the Georges channel and Irish sea, is not possible, resulting in continual danger and under way travel. (3) Nights not quite clear, watching above surface outside of Liverpool for on board transports is out of the question, as accompanying destroyers cannot be made out, and it is to be supposed that eventual transports are leaving Liverpool at night and are accompanied. (4) On the trip up to Georges channel the use of fuel oil has been so great that a return to Liverpool around the south of Ireland would not be possible, and I will start on the return trip when two-fifths of the fuel oil has been consumed, avoiding, if possible, the route through the South channel, because of the kind of watch the U-20 met with up there on the last long distance voyage."

"(3) There are only three more torpedoes as our disposal, two of which, if possible, I will save for the return trip. It is decided to remain south of the entrance to the Bristol channel and to attack steamers until two-fifths of the oil has been consumed, especially as there are greater opportunities for counter-attack than in the Irish Sea."

10 p. m. Visibility 30 meters. Therefore went to 24 meters and began to use sea during the night so as to be able to load up the batteries in the morning for a way from the fire ships."

(Editor's note: The name "Schwieger" appears written at the bottom of the above paragraph, but the diary continues: "May 7, 6 a. m. North Atlantic. Thick fog and then sunshine. Wind north three. Blew out tanks. Course 270 degrees loaded. Now and then it is clearing up 10 a. m. As the fog does not lift I decide now to begin the return trip in order to push from outside into the northern channel in good weather. 11 a. m. It clears up. A fishing steamer (watch vessel) comes toward us from land; it is yet far off. 11:30 a. m. Very good visibility. Went to 11 meters depth, watching steamer. Suddenly very good visibility. Steamer making but little headway. 11:40 a. m. Wind north-northeast. Therefore submerge to 24 meters and run away from him. I will go to 11 meters again at 1 o'clock and have a look around."

WARSHIP PASSES OVER DIVER

"12:30 p. m. A ship with very powerful engines is passing over bow. When the boat comes to 11 meters it turns out that the vessel which ran over the U-20 ten minutes ago is an English warship, old small cruiser with two masts, two funnels. Travel after cruiser to be able to attack it when changing course. The cruiser runs a zigzag course at high speed, and by and by passes out of sight in the direction of Queenstown. 1:45 p. m. Visibility very good. Very fine weather. Therefore pump out tanks. Continue trip. Waiting on the heights of Queenstown does not seem worth while."

GREAT STEAMER COMES IN SIGHT

"2 p. m. Right ahead appear four funnels and two masts of a steamer with course vertical to us (she steered from south-south-west coming toward Galley Head). Ship is made out to be large passenger steamer. 2:05 p. m. Submerged to 11 meters and traveled with high speed on converging course toward steamer, hoping she would change course to starboard. Along the Irish coast. 2:05 p. m. The steamer turns starboard, directs her course toward Queenstown and made possible an approach for a shot."

"First shot fired 2:10 p. m. in order to attain a position directly ahead 2:10 p. m. Clean bow shot from 700 meters depth. (Written on the edge of the log adjustment) Estimated speed 22 sea miles. Shot his starboard side right bridge. An unusually heavy detonation follows with a very strong explosion cloud (high in air over first smokestack)."

SECOND EXPLOSION WITHIN SHIP

"To the explosion of the torpedo there must have been a second explosion (boiler or coal or powder). The superstructure over point struck and the high bridge are rent asunder. Fire breaks out and smoke envelops the high bridge. The ship stops immediately and quickly heels to starboard, at the same time diving deep at the bow. It has the appearance as if it will capsize very soon. Great confusion arises on the ship; the boats are being made clear and part being let down into the water. In this they must have lost their heads; many boats, crowded full, were let down. Boat first or stern first into the water so that they were immediately dashed full (sic). Fewer lifeboats can be made clear on the portside than on the starboard owing to the slant of the boat."

"The ship blows off. In front appears the name Lusitania in gold letters. The ship was painted black; no stern flag was raised. She was running at a speed of 20 sea miles. 2:25 p. m. As it seems the vessel will keep up a short time I submerged to 24 meters and put U-20 to sea."

COULDN'T FIRE ON DROWNING VICTIMS

"I could not have fired a second torpedo into this throng of humanity attempting to save themselves, anyway. 4:15 p. m. Went to 11 meters and took a look about. In the distance stern are drifting a number of lifeboats. Nothing more is to be seen of the Lusitania. The wreck must lie: Old Head of Kinsdale lighthouse in 53 degrees N. W. 14 sea miles away; at a depth of about 50 meters (27 sea miles from Queenstown) and 51 degrees 22.5 north and 8.31 west. The shore and lighthouse were to be seen quite distinctly."

4:20 p. m. On observation

port ahead, large steamer in sight with course on Fastnet rock. At an advanced position at high speed to get a stern shot. 5:08 p. m. Stern angle shot at 90 degrees on 500-meter range. Estimated cutting angle 90 degrees. Conditions for the shot were very favorable, a vast part of the question of the torpedo had the right course."

MISSED HITTING CUNARD FREIGHTER

"Torpedo missed. As the periscope cut under the water for while after the shot, unfortunately it could not be determined what caused the miss. The torpedo left the tube properly and it rather than the tube was in the wrong angle. Wrong insertion in the tube was impossible because the torpedo officer himself was astern. The steamer was a freighter of the Cunard line, one thick red stack, two masts, no stern flag about 700 tons gross. Probably did not notice the torpedo as it held to its course."

SWISS U-BOAT NOT CONCERNED

"Schwieger was not concerned because one of his torpedoes had missed its target but he was over the fact that he had just sunk a great passenger liner and had departed from a spot leaving hundreds of persons struggling for their lives."

PRIVY IN SIGHT BUT NO TORPEDOES

"May 7" (continued) 5:15 p. m.

Submerged to 24 meters and traveled to sea. 5:15 p. m. Pumped out; loaded; trip continued. Round about are occasionally visible smoke clouds from very large smoke and outboard steamers. It is remarkable that especially today so much that should be found here although on the day before two large vessels were sunk south of St. George's channel. It seems inexplicable anyway why the Lusitania was not sent through the North channel. The district south of Ireland from Fastnet rock up to George's channel between 20 and 50 sea miles from the coast will remain one of the best regions for the commercial war. For the vessels cannot go past late at night if they want to go into the Irish sea. A number of destroyers will hardly take place at sea; therefore, the counter effect will be more pleasant to bear here and farther from the vicinity of harbors or fire ships."

HEAVY TORPEDOES ARE RECOMMENDED

"It is urged that they be recommended, however, they are to operate here by equipped only with G torpedoes, as many large vessels are traveling here, against which a bronze torpedo would have but little effect. For the ships are now always sure to have their bulkheads and loading hatchways closed. 5:30 p. m. Good visibility. Return trip continued; far distant from coast, as not to be delayed by patrolling boats. The last torpedo, the stern tube, will be saved for the return trip."

THE LOG FOR MAY 8, 1915

"The log for May 8, 1915, and 11:15 a. m. taken up with incidents on the return trip of the U-20 to Wilhelmshaven. Schwieger would say that part of his diary relating to the Lusitania voyage was lost at sea. May 17 and the later entries refer to another trip."

VOYAGE COVERED 3064 SEA MILES

"After the heading 'Miscellaneous' he gave considerable technical data about the voyage, such as the fact that the U-20 made 3064 sea miles, of which 250 sea miles were made while submerged. He praised Pilot Lanz for his wide knowledge of British ship construction."

"Two years after the destruction of the Lusitania, the Schwieger was decorated. Then the highest honor within the German military machine was bestowed upon him—the title of 'Pour le Merite'—which was granted only for extraordinary bravery and heroism shown on several occasions. Captain-Lieutenant Schwieger was lost at sea on November 5 of that year. He was put out in the U-58 and was never heard of again."

Is Your Guard Down?

Every man is a fighter, though he may not be a pugilist. His daily task is his fight—and he needs to be fit and ready for it.

Constipation to the business fighter is the "out-of-condition" of the pugilist. Constipation not only makes the business fighter dull and slow, and unfit for effort, but it is the "lowered guard" that leaves the opening for the jarring blows of serious disease.

By an entirely new principle Nujol keeps the poisonous food waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing Nujol trade-mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

Sighted People Are Sought To Aid Blind

BY EDNA E. KINARD.

Shut your eyes. Think yourselves sightless. Count the interests that would be wiped out, the everyday, commonplace, voluntary acts that would be prohibited. So it is with 1300 men and women and little children of the state whose only personal contact with the great world of literature and current events is through the medium of the free State Circulating Library. So it is with the cultured man who is eager to discover himself what is going on in the great outside world of action and the woman in Los Angeles who grieves for her eyes because she has not been able to learn for herself the trend of national and state events.

California does what it can for its blind. It sends into the homes a blind teacher who, through sympathy and patience, can teach the fingers the delicate sense of the Braille system.

HAS TAUGHT THOUSANDS.
Miss Kate Foley, now in San Francisco, has taught thousands of sightless persons to be content because they have learned to read through their fingers. It has provided, a library of Braille books, with free postage each way on all volumes.

But it is the Women Volunteers of Oakland, organized eighteen months ago and instructed in Braille writing by Miss Foley, which is assisting the state library. The class came into being during the war when many were returning from the front in darkness. Its sphere has extended. Fifty volumes have been prepared for the state library with ten additional for the blind in the Red Cross Institute in Baltimore. Every dot of every letter must be punched by hand. A blind woman, expert in proof-reading, has gone carefully over the copy before it was bound for no wrong dot must confuse the sensitive fingers of the reader.

WEEKLY BUDGET WRITTEN.
This, however, does not complete the labor of the score of the Braille writers who meet fortnightly at 1444 San Pablo avenue. A weekly budget is written by class members and sent regularly as a personal newspaper to a man who is sightless. When he has finished its text he forwards it to a blind woman in Los Angeles.

Miss Foley makes a plea to sighted people who have some leisure to master the Braille code that the library for the blind may be more fully supplied with up-to-date, interesting literature.

FAIRM SETTLEMENT PLANS TO BE STUDIED.
Plans for farm settlement in California will be studied by the Housing Betterment committee of the California branch, Association of College Alumnae, on Saturday, April 3. Dr. Elwood Mead will be the speaker. The section of which Mrs. Jesse H. Brown is president will meet at Cloyne Court, Berkeley, with Miss Ellen Hedrick, the hostess.

TO HEAR KEELER.
Charles Keeler, president of the California Writers' Club, will be the particularly honored guest of the Oakland Club at the March luncheon tomorrow, at Hotel Oakland. Mrs. Edwards Keeler, president of the Home Club, will share in the complement. A group of Spanish songs will be rendered by R. Kern. Miss Theresa Russell, president, will act as toastmistress, with Mrs. F. Ellis as toastmistress.

RIG SISTERS AT MILLS COLLEGE.
With Mrs. M. C. Sloss, member of the State Board of Education, as rectress, and Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, announced as the speaker of the hour, the Big Sisters of the Public Welfare League tomorrow will be guests at Mills College. The Springtime, dance of the recent Ringers will be offered by a group of students. Miss Bernice Putt will render a group of songs. A 4 o'clock tea will be served by the league in social economics, of which Dr. Mary Roberts Colledge is instructor.

Mrs. Sloss will discuss the recent report of the state board on the California Girls' Training Home in Alameda.

Ad-Masque Ball Plans Topic at Luncheon
Members of the Oakland Advertising club will discuss plans for their annual ad-masque ball at today's luncheon, which will be held in the Hotel Oakland. The members state they plan to make the masque bigger this year than ever before.

NEW U. S. CHINA LINE.

The Meeting

One solemn night, upon my way
Death waited.
As my steps drew near
I felt my heart grow chill
with fear
And said: "O let me live my day!"

The stars are globed in gold above;
The world God gave is fair to see;
Love smiles, and keeps a trust
with me—
O let me live and die with Love!"

Death smiled, and passed, and Love was mine.
But having Love, I would not die.
For Love—O trust, tenderest tie!
Makes life too heavenly to resign.

MY HEART and MY HUSBAND
by DELE GARDNER

Who is This Person Who Started Madge's Father?

Involuntarily I turned my head to see what it was that had so shocked my father.
I hadn't far to look. At the table just back of us were seated a man and a woman, both frankly and insolently staring at us. Upon the face of the man, a sleek-haired, shifty-eyed individual, there was written only curiosity, but the face of his woman companion showed malevolent recognition in the gaze she bent upon my father.
She was a tall, magnificently built woman, whose age it was hard to determine because of the elaborate makeup with which her face was covered. It was a make-up which reminded me unpleasantly of the atrocious mask with which Lillian Underwood used to disguise her high-bred though fading beauty, in order to "play the game," as she expressed it, with her selfish husband. But never did Lillian's face, indeed, never could Lillian's face show the evil that lurked in every lineament of the woman at the next table. They must have been seated at the table but a short time, for I remembered looking around only a few moments before when their table was occupied by a young, pretty and giddy girl with a devoted, also youthful cavalier. Because my back was toward them the woman evidently hadn't had a good look at me. I was startled to see a look leap into her eyes that for a moment blazed out the sneering evil of the gaze she had given my father. It was a look which had involuntary horror, and also recognition, swift and certain. And yet I was certain that never in my life had I seen her.

MY EYES THAT STARE
Her expression was so compelling that for a long moment her eyes held mine, almost as if hers had some hypnotic power. Then the hardened self-control—evidently acquired from years of experience, which was almost the first thing I noticed about her—came to her rescue, and she wiped both horror and recognition from her countenance as easily as she would have rubbed chalk from a blackboard.
But into her eyes there crept another expression—a shrewd, calculating, sinister look—which made me shiver. Abruptly she took her eyes from mine, spoke to her companion in a low voice, evidently giving him some admonition concerning us.
The moment which seemed so long to me, was, in reality, but a few seconds. I turned back to my father, to find him in the same numbed attitude, although his eyes were fixed upon his plate as if he dreaded to raise them.

"Father, dear!"
I spoke his name in a low tone, almost in a whisper, but the sound, faint as it was, roused him. He lifted his head, looked at me with eyes which had altered tragically from the happy ones that had looked into mine but a few short minutes before. I noticed that he carefully avoided glancing even in the general direction of the people at the next table.
ONLY A GHOST
"Have I frightened you, child?" he said mournfully. "I am so sorry, but—"
The man and woman at the next table were rising with hasty explanation to the waiter. I didn't turn my head, but I could hear the woman's voice in a high, shrill, excuse for their impulsive departure. My father's face set in determined lines.
"If they come over to this table," he whispered, tensely, "you set up at once and go down to the women's waiting room. Have the maid call a taxi for you, and go directly to Mrs. Underwood's. I will meet you there."
My brain whirled in conjecture at the bizarre request. Who could this woman be, the very sight of whom set my father, poised man of the world as he was, in such a panic? But his fears of their disturbing us further were unfounded. They left without a word to us, although I could tell from the sudden, swift repulsion sweeping across my father's face that the woman had given him another insolent, recognizing, meaning look before she left the room.
I knew when all traces of them were gone by the way my father straightened his figure, squared his shoulders and made a pitiful attempt to regain the peace which the sight of the unknown woman had swept from him.
"As I was saying, my dear," he said, making a desperate attempt at casual conversation, "I think their eyes here are the best to be found in the city. Don't you agree with me?"
I took my courage in both hands, braved the displeasure I feared would be his.
"Won't you tell me what so troubled you, father, dear?" I asked. "Let me share the unpleasant things, too."
He looked at me mournfully.
"It was only a ghost of the past, daughter, but it can never touch you, shall never touch you."

Mistress—You don't seem to know about finger-bowls, Norah. Didn't they have them at the last place you worked? Maid—No, ma'am. They mostly washed themselves before they came to the table.—Life.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

EGG SUBSTITUTES
Many housekeepers know it is possible, when eggs are lacking, to use other foods which will give something the same appearance as eggs. Flour or starch may be used to thicken custards or gelatin used in making an icing or a pudding. The dish may be acceptable, but the food value is not the same as if eggs were used, say home economics specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

There are a number of commercial products designed as egg substitutes, some of which approach eggs in composition much more nearly than others. Of these products some are fairly well known to housekeepers while others are used chiefly in commercial baking and for similar purposes. The various kinds differ much in composition, some being much more like eggs in protein content and energy value than others. In judging such products one should not rely upon appearance. Yellow color does not necessarily indicate other egg characteristics. Some of these egg substitutes, at least, are manufactured from skim milk and are said to contain milk casein and albumin mixed with a little flour. Such a product is evidently rich in protein. Other egg substitutes have been devised which consist of mixtures of animal or vegetable fats, albumin and starch or flour.

Goods have also been marketed for use as egg substitutes which contain little or no albumin, but which are apparently made up quite largely of starch, colored more or less with some yellow substance. They are commonly advertised for making custards and puddings similar in appearance to those in which fresh eggs are used. If the housekeeper wishes to use them she should not overlook the fact that in the diet they can not replace fresh eggs, since they do not contain the same kind or quantity of nitrogenous matter or fat. This may be an important matter.

Lady Fingers

Separate the white from ten eggs and pour them into a basin; leave the yolks in another vessel. To these yolks add half a pound of powdered sugar, part of it being flavored with vanilla. Beat it up to make a very light preparation, then put in about a pound of sifted flour, stirring the whole lightly together. Lay them in sheet of paper using for this operation a pocket furnished with a half inch diameter socket. Bestrew with powdered sugar, put them in a baking sheet and leave stand for a moment until the sugar begins to dissolve. Cook them in a moderate oven until they are of a golden color and the crust begins to harden. Remove at once from the baking sheet, and lay them on a table till cold.

What to Do when You "Can't Sleep"

WHEN anyone fails to get good sound sleep every night something ought to be done about it. It will not do much good to call in the doctor unless you are sure your bed is not at fault.

MANN ACT TRIAL ENDS IN DEADLOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—A federal jury in the United States District Court of San Francisco today was unable to agree on a verdict in the trial of E. V. McGinnis, former army officer charged with a violation of the Mann act, and was discharged from further service by U. S. District Judge Robert Bean. McGinnis was accused of having transported 19-year-old Esther Botta to this city from Des Moines, during his trial he was staunchly supported both by Miss Botta and his wife, who came to San Francisco from St. Louis to participate in his defense.

After the jurors had filed into the jury box this morning Norton H. Barry, 337 Euclid avenue, Oakland, the foreman, arose and informed the court that despite the fact the jurors had deliberated until 11:15 o'clock last night, the disagreement still existed when they reconvened this morning. He said seven ballots had been taken.

NO PROSPECT OF VERDICT.—"You see no prospect of a verdict, then?" queried U. S. District Judge Bean.

"No," replied Barry.

In reply to a question by the court the jurors confirmed Barry's statement and were dismissed.

McGinnis declared he intended applying to the War Risk Bureau in Washington for permission to enter a government hospital for treatment for the injuries suffered by him when he was wounded and gassed in France. He also said he planned to return to his wife, Mrs. McGinnis was not in court when the verdict was returned, being confined to her room in the hotel following a partial collapse yesterday at the end of Assistant U. S. Attorney Ben Geis closing argument to the jurors.

MISS BOTTA IN COURT.—Miss Botta was in court and accepted the outcome of the trial with the same degree of apparent indifference that has characterized her attitude all during the trial.

The government did not indicate definitely whether McGinnis will again be brought to trial, although it generally was believed he will. The jury was said to have stood 8 to 4 for conviction, although this could not be confirmed.

Promoter Is Fined For Fake Contest

CALEXICO, March 22.—Eduardo Ramos, mayor of Mexicali, Mex., has established a precedent for the guidance of amusement purveyors when he fined a promoter $500 to gold for violating promises to present a prize fight between a lion and a bull.

An entertainment was held at the Mexicali bull ring, at which the principal feature was advertised as a fight between a lion and a bull. The lion was secured from a carnival company that recently showed here. It was taken to the ring, but could not be coaxed or driven out to meet a waiting bull.

A boxing contest and two bull fights also failed to satisfy the thousands of more persons who had purchased admissions, and the promoter's arrest followed.

GIRL PREFERENCES DEATH TO HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—A 19-year-old Miriam Rogers, told of her decision to take her own life rather than to be returned to the St. Catherine's home for wayward girls where she had spent three years. She disappeared from the home of Mrs. William Pierce, 3544 Washington street, where she had been employed as a domestic.

It is believed she left the Pienos home clad in shoes, stockings and a boy's overcoat. She took with her a bottle of poison and an effort is now being made to locate her body, as it is believed she intended to carry out her threat. She is described as being exceptionally attractive, 5 feet 5 inches high, 135 pounds and had brown hair and eyes.

In the letter to her employer she said her aunt, Mrs. Anna Tracey, 825 Twenty-eighth street, had threatened to return her to the St. Catherine's home.

COAL DUST LODGED IN MINER'S LUNGS

Tells How His Cough Was Conquered and Health Restored.

"In November, 1918, I was working in a coal mine and the doctor said the coal dust had settled in my lungs. I couldn't lie down on my right side, coughed so I couldn't sleep and had constant pain in my right lung. I coughed so hard the blood would spurt out of my nose. Finally the doctors had me change climate and live outdoors, but didn't improve."

"Then I came home and started on Mils Emulsion. I took it for a month and a lot of good light from the start, loosening up the coal dust in my right lung. In a few weeks my lungs were free. I could sleep like a baby, had an excellent appetite, and my cough left me entirely. I gained back 30 pounds in the mines completely restored to health."—G. H. Bunn, 6th ave. and No. 13th st., Terre Haute, Ind.

Thousands of victims of dust-filled air, developing the same trouble that Mr. Bunn had, Mils Emulsion costs nothing to try, so why not at least try it?

It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

GIRL TODDLERS OUT DAY, NIGHT IN CITY STREETS

After a day and a night spent in sight seeing about Oakland and attending two shows of one movie to which a good natured door-keeper admitted them free of charge, Katherine and Marie Fontache, aged 8 and 6 years, respectively, are back again in the California Emergency Home, 1474 Seventh street. The children left the home Sunday with the intention of attending Sunday school, but the wanderlust, to which they fall a victim every month or so, caused them to start on a tour of Oakland.

"We went to a movie in the afternoon," explains Katherine. "We told the man we wanted to see Mary Pickford, but we did not have any money, and so he let us go in. We stayed there and saw the show two times, and when we went out on the street it was dark. We hid all night in a doorway, but it was so cold we could not sleep."

Their pilgrimage ended when Policeman Jerry Ring spied them. They tried to run away from him but were overtaken and were sent to the Detention Home until their home address was learned.

Race Narrows to Bonillas, Oregon

MEXICO CITY, March 22.—Thousands thronged the streets here to greet Yencio Bonillas, Mexican ambassador to the United States, who has announced his willingness to become the presidential candidate of the civilian party in the general elections July 11.

The demonstration was considered as a first real presidential campaign gathering, and as marking the climax of the preliminary canvass.

Newspaper comment and published interviews with other candidates and government officials indicate the fight has narrowed down to Bonillas and Alvaro Obregon, with partisans of Pablo Gonzalez waging a more or less extensive campaign.

Children love its delicious taste. Put directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear. "Mother," you must say "California."—Advertisement.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The used throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or water coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

ECZEMA IS ONLY SKIN DEEP

Internal medicine will cure Eczema. Only by the application of CRANOLIN can the cause of the disease be destroyed. Prove this statement for yourself at our expense. Science has discovered that the acid like liquid found under the skin of the eczema sufferer is the cause of the disease. This skin parasite that causes Eczema, and which makes the skin itchy, is destroyed by the use of CRANOLIN. The result is a healthy skin and the return of the color and texture of the skin.

OAKLAND IS SHORT 5000 RESIDENCES

Despite the increased building of recent months, Oakland is still short 5000 houses and to date there is not even a ray of hope in sight of this deficit being overcome. This is the opinion expressed by Fred E. Reed, chairman of the Housing Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The only panacea for this shortage, according to Reed, is an intensive building campaign along lines heretofore not carried out and one that will provide dwellings in excess of the number of new families who are coming to Oakland to reside.

Reed estimates, however, that the city is short of housing by 5000 units and that the shortage is due to go still higher. The law of supply and demand will tend to make it higher, but even with the average rents for houses as high as they are, he says, the landlords are not receiving enough to make renting profitable. Not until the rents are high enough to return a landlord 7 per cent upon his investment after depreciation and current expenses of a house have been met will we see people building for rent.

One of the evil effects of this scarcity of houses, he says, is the driving of people into crowded quarters. In the past Oakland has been free of overcrowded tenements, a condition that exists in the tenements of the East, but the present scarcity is sending us to it, said Reed.

In commenting upon the general housing conditions, he said: "We are at least 5000 houses short of where we should be in order to make rents reasonable. Owing to competition for houses, rents during the last four years have increased sixty per cent and they must and will go higher."

"It is not a case of the high cost of materials but the law of supply and demand. As long as the city grows, and it will continue to grow, there will be a scarcity of houses until we build faster than the people increase."

Students to Write on "True Americans"

"The American" is the theme for an essay contest to be carried on throughout the public schools of Oakland under the direction of the board of education and the League of American Writers, which have offered awards aggregating $75 for the best composition. The contest will run until April 5, according to the announcement which has been made by Superintendent Fred M. Hunter.

Students in the high schools, the seventh and eighth, and the fifth and sixth grades are eligible to participate. "The True American—What Does He Stand for Today?" is the subject for the high school contestants. Students in the seventh and eighth grades will write on the theme, "The True American—Coming from Our Greatness as Found in Our History." "The True American—What I May Do Day by Day to Show I am a True American" is the theme for the lower classes.

Sixty Are Initiated by Alameda K. of C.

ALAMEDA, March 23.—Sixty candidates received the second and third degrees in the Knights of Columbus at Native Sons hall Sunday. State officers and the touring degree team from New Haven, Conn., were present. The team put on work in the third degree and work in the second was exemplified by a team from Berkeley.

Following initiation a banquet was enjoyed at Moose hall, where a program presided over by Grand Knight J. J. Mulvaney as toastmaster was rendered. Rev. J. R. Praught, State Deputy David P. Supple, Edward McPherson, Past State Deputy W. M. Silva, Rev. Father Kelleher, District Deputy W. A. Chovan, Rev. Father Burke, Matthew McManus, Frank L. Duda, Past District Deputy C. Maloney, Past Grand Knight J. J. O'Brien, J. J. Kenny and Rev. Father Warren made brief speeches and Clement Boumazan, C. G. Kenny, William T. Hunter, Samuel Flerey and Charles McKenzie rendered musical selections.

First Myers Estate Accounting Approved

Approval of the first account of Mrs. Clara Myers, as administratrix of the estate of Joseph S. Myers, wealthy real estate man who died two years ago, has been given by Judge L. C. Robinson. The accounting shows receipts amounting to $176,622.11 and disbursements to that sum, $176,622.11.

Choir Prepares for 'Requiem' Rendition

The choir of the First Congregational church, directed by Eugene B. Richard, is making special preparation for the rendition of the "Requiem," which will be given at 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the church and auditorium. The "Requiem" is an ancient and beautiful composition, and this is the first time the choir's strength will be increased by the addition of a score of more other singers. O. Gordon, Jackson, Harrison, and Mrs. A. B. W. will be the soloists. Miss Virginia de Foreman will be at the piano.

Railroad Extension to Hayward Sought

Hayward and San Leandro have united in an effort to induce the Southern Pacific to extend its line from the Emeryville terminus to Hayward via San Leandro. Mayor Allan Patton, who is active in the movement, has issued a proclamation urging that the necessary right of way be sold at a low cost. The greatest obstacle, he says, is in San Leandro, where the property is in small holdings and has a high value.

Tenants Threaten Strike Against Increased Rents

NEW YORK, March 23.—The rent strike may be the tenants' chief weapon against profiteering landlords in New York.

Threat to strike against exorbitant rents has been made in scores of communities following a tryout of the plan in Jersey City and Newark, N. J., where, as has been the case in practically every city in the country, upward of prices have been charged for rooms, flats, apartments and houses in the midst of the most acute shortage of housing facilities the nation has ever faced.

Data gathered by the United Press indicates underlying causes for high rentals, as given by responsible real estate dealers, are:

1. Unprecedented slump in building, accentuated by shortage of labor and building material and aided by increased prices for both.

2. The war of population toward the city, in anticipation of high wages and easier living. Thousands of persons drawn to industrial centers during the war have stayed in the cities, going into other lines of work.

3. The appearance of thousands of speculators, seeing chances to prey on the many homeseekers, and their renting of all available apartments, outfitting them with cheap furnishings and then re-renting at enormous profits.

New York's fight against rent profiteering has already been started by joint attacks by Mayor Hylan and the Central Federated Union. The mayor announced he will confer with Commissioner James F. Gannon of Jersey City relative to Gannon's method of handling the rent strike.

The Central Federated Union, through Secretary Ernest Bohm, has decided to ask introduction into the legislature of a bill protecting the rights of tenants and making eviction impossible where eviction is threatened by refusal to pay exorbitant rents.

OCCUPANTS PLAN HOME. BOSTON, March 23.—The housing situation here is acute according to local estate authorities and contractors, who hold out little hope of relief until the cost of building material is lowered and construction resumed.

The shortage of private dwellings and apartments is due to a great extent to the fact that during the war there was very little building. The end of the war found material so expensive that both individuals and contractors hesitated to build.

CLEVELAND SHORTAGE. CLEVELAND, O., March 23.—Cleveland is due for another year of rising rents, according to B. A. Roberts, secretary of the Builders' Exchange. The housing shortage will be more acute than ever, he believes.

High wages and high building material prices complicate a situation already held critical due to the lack of housing facilities. It was estimated that Cleveland requires at least 50,000 more homes to meet the present normal demand.

CHICAGO FEELS FAMINE. CHICAGO, March 23.—Chicago faces the greatest home famine in its history, according to Robert Bartlett Jr., manager of a real estate concern here. "Practically every available space for sub-dividing has been sold," Bartlett said. "It isn't the land question that's worrying real estate dealers—it's the building question."

INDIANAPOLIS SUFFERS. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 23.—Indianapolis could today use 5000 additional houses, at least, said John B. Reynolds, general secretary of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce. "Surveys made by our civic and industrial bureaus show that the shortage is due to decreased building during the war and to the great influx of workers to take care of the expanding industries of the city."

PORTLAND HAS SCARCITY. PORTLAND, Ore., March 23.—Houses and apartments of all descriptions are scarce in Portland, a condition which is general throughout the Pacific Northwest.

The principal reason for the situation is that while the population has increased during the last few years the building program has slumped.

PAN OF PRUNES CAUSES WOMAN TO RING ALARM

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—When Mrs. M. Mibach entered the front door of her home at 1553 Dolores street at noon today on her return from a shopping trip, she found her hallway full of thick fumes of smoke. Mrs. Mibach dropped her groceries on the floor, ran to a fire alarm box and summoned chemical engine No. 7.

When the firemen arrived they passed into the house and fought their way through the smoke to the kitchen, where the source of all the trouble was extinguished; it was a large pan of prunes which Mrs. Mibach had put on the stove to cook and which burned up during her absence.

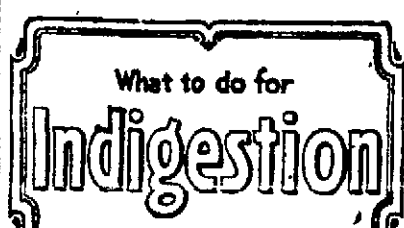

promised to prosecute those found guilty of charging exorbitant rents, the women said 75 per cent of the increases were justified.

PORTLAND HAS SCARCITY. PORTLAND, Ore., March 23.—Houses and apartments of all descriptions are scarce in Portland, a condition which is general throughout the Pacific Northwest.

The principal reason for the situation is that while the population has increased during the last few years the building program has slumped.

Credit Men to See "Black Art" Picture

The Co-operative Credit Association has arranged to present a "movie" next Thursday evening in the Pacific Building, showing the methods employed by forgers, check raisers and confidence men. The play is entitled "A Modern Black Art." Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen will also give a talk on confidence men and forgers. Admission to the play will be by ticket only.

The Highest Authorities Unanimously Acknowledge the Complete Success of the SOLOELLE

The Tone-Coloring Solo Player Piano

The Musicians

The Master Pianist of our time exclaimed on hearing the Soloelle: "I never expected to live long enough to hear anything like this!"

The most eminent artists in the world have over their own signatures expressed their boundless admiration for the Soloelle. Stars of the Metropolitan Opera Company use the Soloelle in their own studios to play their accompaniments.

One and all, they claim the Soloelle as the only instrument with which those technically untrained can enjoy the exquisite pleasure of personally producing music—music of warmth and color—music sparkling with life.

The Piano Manufacturers

Realizing that the Soloelle had at last raised the pedal player piano to the highest artistic plane and superseded the old type player piano, the leading piano makers obtained places on the exclusive list of manufacturers authorized to install Soloelles in their instruments. Among these manufacturers are such famous makers as: Wm. Knabe & Co., Henry F. Miller, Chickering & Sons, The Hardman Company, Mehlig & Sons, Hazeltine Brothers, Gabler Piano Company, J. & C. Fischer, Hobart M. Cable, Estey Piano Company, B. Schöninger, Kohler & Campbell, Lyon & Healy, and others.

The Music Roll Manufacturers

The four leading music-roll manufacturers were authorized to produce the Soloelle library of music rolls, which has been pronounced the best selected library of player piano music yet compiled. These four manufacturers are the Q. R. S. Company, the Rythmodik Corporation, the Artempo Company and the Universal Music Roll Company.

In the Soloelle library are included the personally played rolls of practically every eminent pianist of the present time.

The Piano Dealers

Leading dealers in hundreds of cities in the United States and foreign countries now feature the Soloelle as their leading player piano, and the number is continually increasing.

Kohler & Chase are the exclusive "Licensed Soloelle Dealers" in San Francisco, Oakland and the cities of Northern California.

The Public

If we were to publish the names of the discriminating purchasers of the Soloelle in the bay cities, it would read like several pages from the Blue Book.

The Soloelle has achieved the greatest popularity in the shortest time of any musical instrument ever placed on the American market—its success has been unparalleled.

We know of no one who, having heard the Soloelle and realizing its acknowledged superiority, has ever purchased any other player.

The Soloelle marks an epoch in the history of the player piano because it accomplishes two things heretofore considered impossible.

First

The Soloelle is the only player piano that affords complete and unrestricted control of Melody and Accompaniment separately.

Exclusive Knabe Dealers
Licensed Soloelle Dealers

Second

The Soloelle is the only player piano that affords control of the tone-color—the kind, quality or character of tone as distinguished from quantity of tone (tone gradation).

WHITTHORNE & SWAN, WASHINGTON STREET, AT ELEVENTH

COAL PRICE BAR LIFTED BY WILSON

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Government control over the maximum price of bituminous coal was withdrawn today by President Wilson, effective April 1.

At the same time the President wrote the operators and miners transmitting the majority report of the coal commission and informing them that this report was "the basis upon which the wage schedule agreements between the mine workers and operators shall be made."

By removing government control of price, effective April 1, the President paved the way for increased coal prices to absorb the average 27 per cent increase recommended in the majority report.

The President wrote the operators and miners that it was "essential to the public welfare that the agreements be concluded at the earliest date practicable so that the uncertainty as to the coal supply may be ended and that the consumers may be able to make contracts for their coal supply."

The President said he assumed that neither party would raise any question and that he was sure that no question could properly be raised as to the binding character of the award by the majority of the commission, notwithstanding the fact that it was unanimous.

INCREASE $200,000,000

The President said there was no provision of law for fixing new coal prices for peacetime purposes and that "unless and until some grave emergency shall arise, which in my judgment has a relation to the emergency purposes of the Lever act, I would not feel justified in fixing coal prices with reference to future conditions of production."

The majority report of the commission said the 27 per cent increase absorbed the 14 per cent increase allowed when the miners returned to work, and that in dollars it would approximate $200,000,000 a year.

The executive order withdrawing government control of prices removes virtually all government control of coal, placing the fuel administration in the status that it was before its authority was restored when the miners struck last November 1.

Wisdom in Selection of Teachers Is Guard: Barrows

dent in this academic community and what his responsibility to this freedom. The president of the University of California is a member of its academic senate, he is a colleague of the teaching force as well as of the regents and according to the bylaws of the University he is the normal avenue of communication between the two bodies.

It seems to be his responsibility to draw all the various institutions which make up the University into a helpful arrangement with one another and assure their common development, and it is obviously the center and chief of a large staff to whom the administrative tasks of the University are entrusted. It is his duty to inform the regents as to the University's needs, recommend financial provision for those needs and bring to the regents' attention those academic policies upon which our Senate has concluded its consideration.

It is obvious that he cannot, in such a community as ours, do these things except in the closest association with the academic life itself. It would be presumptuous and futile for him to attempt in a secret or solitary manner to formulate an academic policy or to nominate to our membership. The University is a place dependent upon being friendly and university matters can only be settled in the spirit of a "helping hand" by "friends in council."

The president has responsibility to see that needed action is taken; that decisions are reached; that the decisions may not be exactly his. But he can afford to assume very little of autocratic authority in such matters. Rather would he seem to be a point about which may gather those elements which result in a clear and imperishable crystal of opinion, or to change the figure, possibly a hard, irritating substance without the precious mother-of-pearl which leads to the accumulation there of translucent particles which produce a diadem.

SENSE OF GREAT OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED

It is in this spirit at least that I approach this office which has been so lately conferred. I am sensible of its distinguished character, of its great opportunities, of the fine traditions we associate with it, of the friendship and esteem that surround it, but I am sensible also of its care and its chagrin, of the fact that that freedom which I have so extolled as the embodiment of the academic life is by the nature of the presidential office among us largely denied to it.

No one who views it as I have been privileged to view it as an alumnus, as a teacher here could approach it without reverence, without humility, and without a sincere disposition to give all that he possesses in order that our common life may be kept in those free and honest paths along which it has so well proceeded and which are leading us seemingly to heights of usefulness and influence of which no man can see the sum.

SUCCESS IN OTHERS INSPIRES OUR OWN

I realize that this may be a somewhat unattainable ideal; that for some the quest ends in weariness and discouragement; that in every academic community there are likely to be those upon whom this adventure has palled; that at all times—

"Many have loved truth and lavished life's best oil. Amid the dust of books to find it, Contented at last for guerdon of their toil."

With the cast mantle she has left behind her, and I, too, am destined to be inspired more by others' success than by my own, but none the less I believe that the force which moves men in academic communities and holds these communities together against the obvious inducements of the world is the charm of belonging to a body which discloses life's secrets and the fascination experienced by audacity of discovery. And it is because truth is our endeavor that moral power inheres in a university and that there is something here that men regard and revere, something that appeals to the undying crusading spirit of the race, that helps all to realize that the quest is no common one and cannot be followed by common men, that those—

"Love, then, best who to themselves give are true. And what they dare to dream of dare to do; They follow her and find her Where all may hope to find her. Not in the ashes of a burnt-out mind."

But beautiful with danger's sweetness "round her."

It is in this searching, questioning, unslaked spirit that makes such a community as ours a true university—a spirit that will not stop dismayed or fearful, but which writes at the head of each enterprise, such a title as that which Professor Goldwin Smith gave to his last volume of his searching and intelligent essays, "No Refuge but in Truth."

"Fit men who enter university life should enter it wisely disillusioned as to certain things. They should all cheerfully and discerningly appreciate at the start that there are no great material rewards, that they must, so far as any prospects which the university offers, live and die poor men—poor, that is, in the sense in which a very rich and generously spending nation uses that term. But there are further great privileges in the life which I think we may properly emphasize, for they should be ever present in our minds and they should be particularly held before that chosen element of our student body whom we would with pleasure see turn its interest to the university as a profession."

CAPPER WARNS OF HUNGER AS MENACE IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—"Actual hunger may face a large proportion of the American people if Congress does not do something to readjust agricultural conditions in this country," Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, declared in the Senate this afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural appropriation bill. "A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening, a growing food shortage which, unless checked, will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

181-CENT SUGAR IN S. F.; PRICES HERE ARE LOWER

Although sugar in San Francisco this morning reached the highest price ever recorded, it is still 181 cents a pound, prices on this side the bay were not affected. No notification was received by local grocers of the increased costs, although it is expected at this time. Cane sugar retailed at 17 1/2 cents in many stores, graduating from that price to as low as 16 and 15 1/2 in others. Local grocers warned that the quoted sugar at the San Francisco price, but later dropped to 17 1/2.

Secretary Connolly of the San Francisco Grocers' Association, explained, "refiners must pay $13.04 per hundred for raw sugar. To this, $2 is added for refining and the difference is credited to freight, he said."

Hickox Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Lewis M. Hickox, 73 years old, civil war veteran, who died Saturday while returning on the car from Mare Island, will be held from Grant Miller's undertaking establishment tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and interment will be made in the Mountain View cemetery. The G. A. R. will have charge of the services.

Hickox, who has lived in Oakland for thirty-three years and who is survived by his wife, four sons and three daughters, served all through the Civil War, entering the conflict when he was but 16 years old. He came to California from Michigan in which state he was born.

For twenty-five years he has been employed at the Mare Island yards, going there practically at the time the yards started. He is survived by his wife, Susan J., sons George M., Frank S., Will L. and Walter W. Hickox, and daughters Louise Corneil, Mrs. Sydney A. Franklin and Mrs. Bessie Whitman.

Whole State Is Drenched by Heaviest Storm of Winter

Sunshine returned to California today after a storm which for 12 hours drenched the state from end to end. It was the heaviest storm since the beginning of the rainy season in September, according to the United States Weather Bureau.

A mass of 54 inches of snow at Summit, 48 at Inskip, 18 at Emigrant Gap, 12 1/2 at Yosemite, 62 at Huntington Lake, 11 at Cascade and 46 at Glacier Point, according to the latest weather bureau reports, disclosed to some extent the expected summer drought in the power reservoirs and other water catches. There still is a wide deficiency between the actual and the normal snowfall to date, the bureau said.

Oroville held the record for precipitation during the period of the storm, 2.50 inches falling. Other figures were: Orland, 2.55; Pomona, 2.50; Rocklin, 2.48; Chico, 2.40; Lindsay, 2.36; San Luis Obispo, 2.30; San Bernardino, 2.29; Red Bluff, 2.16; Paso Robles, 2.12; Fresno, 2.10; Los Angeles, 2.02; In Tulare county for $217,000.

HAGAN WILL AID MORSE IN CONTEST

A resolution directing City Attorney Hagan to represent the Council and Commission in the promised legal fight over the dismissal of Captain Walter J. Petersen to retain his job was adopted by the Council today by votes of 10 to 4. The resolution was introduced by Commissioner Frederic Soderberg and Commissioner L. W. Davis. Mayor John L. Davis and Commissioner W. J. Baccus opposed the move.

Captain Petersen's appeal to the Civil Service Board will be considered at its regular meeting tonight and a date set for the hearing in Commissioner Morse issued a statement this morning declaring that he will not take any steps to prevent the Civil Service Board acting on the appeal.

"I am perfectly willing in any case," he said, "that the Civil Service Board make a most exhaustive investigation of any charges against Captain Petersen. But if the Civil Service Board sees fit to reinstate him, I will not sit in and tell him 'no'."

In my opinion there are few men in the country who are as fair as Captain Petersen in the matter of public ability and experience.

"But his misconduct and failure to perform the duties required of him under the police rules and regulations so far overshadow any native ability he may possess, that he really doesn't fit into the order of things."

Absolute evidence that Ulla Carlson was struck a violent blow on the face and that she was badly beaten by the man who murdered her in Piedmont on March 14 has been established by E. O. Heinrich, criminology expert, and the Piedmont Police.

Photographs of the body, taken in various colors through different primary media, throw up the bruises in marked contrast and add the conclusive testimony to contradict any theory that the girl met a natural death. Heinrich is also engaged in some other work in connection with the case which, it is thought, may throw a new light on the mystery.

George Paris and George Soutirano, restaurant men, questioned last night after Marie Carlson had told the police that Ulla Carlson had a friend named George, told the detectives that they had met the girl at dances and offered an information they had to aid in the investigation. Each accounted for his actions and established a perfect alibi.

Chief Becker is today investigating one new angle while it is not now thought to be important, but bringing results. He is of the opinion that the search has been narrowed down to the few remaining possibilities and that to aid in the work that is yet to be done the evidence of Miss Christine Blumquist, aunt of Ulla Carlson, may be of assistance. The aunt is expected to arrive in Oakland tomorrow.

CITY STREET POST FILLED BY EDWARDS

The appointment of Melvin Auerbach, assistant superintendent of streets and deputy city engineer under Commissioner Baccus in the department of streets to the position of superintendent of streets recently vacated by the resignation of Marshall Campbell, was made this morning by Commissioner Edwards, new head of the street department, and the appointment was approved by the city council.

Auerbach has resigned the permanent appointment and is consented to fill the position only until a permanent successor to Campbell is found.

During the reorganization of the two departments today following the switching of Baccus to the department of revenue and finance and Edwards to the department of streets, the resignation was announced of Miss Anna C. May, stenographer in the office of City Clerk Cummings. She had received the position of senior clerk under Edwards in the department of streets. That position was held during the regime of Baccus by Miss Blanche Steele, who became contract clerk in the school department building organization.

Woman Is Slain By Landlord in Her Own Home

Slayer at San Jose Is Saved
From Husband's Vengeance
By Quick Arrest

SAN JOSE, March 23.—The belief that Mrs. Josie Mungui was fleeing to escape the importunities of an infatuated landlord when she was shot down in the driveway of her home at 1622 Luck avenue last evening, was expressed by officers today after they had further questioned the slayer, Vincent Serio, aged 35, 1656 Palm street, who was arrested soon after the tragedy.

Serio was taken into custody barely in time to escape summary vengeance from the woman's friends.

The shooting was witnessed by Mrs. Mary Marchese from the window of her home, adjoining that of the Munguis. As Mrs. Mungui entered the driveway, the man fired three times and she fell dead.

James Mungui, husband of the dead woman, employee of the Peninsular railroad, arrived at his home soon after the shooting. He armed himself and set out with other Italians in pursuit of the slayer. Before they could find him, however, Serio had been taken to the city prison.

Serio admitted shooting Mrs. Mungui, it is stated, but would give no reason. Mungui said Serio was then landlord and had been accustomed to calling at his home to collect the rent.

Mrs. Mungui was only 19 years of age, had been married three years and leaves two children one of whom is only three months of age. Serio is said to have a wife undergoing treatment at the Agnew state hospital and has several children.

PARLEY AIMS TO END SHIP YARD STRIKE

Conferences will be held in San Francisco between representatives of the shipyard of the San Francisco bay district and the unions which have been on strike since last October, with a view toward adjusting their differences, according to James O'Connell, head of the Metal Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor today.

Conferences already have taken place in the east before officials of the Bethlehem steel and shipbuilding corporation, and international leaders of the metal trades unions. O'Connell said.

"We are here to meet with the local labor people first of all," said O'Connell, and to go into the situation thoroughly. Later on we will meet with the other side.

O'Connell was accompanied here from the east by Joseph Valentine, William Johnson and James Wilson, heads of the International Molders, Machinists and Patternmakers unions.

The first conference between the visiting officials and the local labor unions was held last night. A second is to take place today.

J. Baccus was inducted into the organization in place of Commissioner W. H. Edwards as a result of the transfer of the two department heads last week.

The other two members of the board are Mayor Davis and City Commissioner Morse. Mayor Davis was again elected president of the board this morning. His retirement carries with it half pay.

MAN AND WIFE RACE TO FILE DIVORCE SUITS

On one occasion, says the wife, Kenney came to her mother's house just after the death of her brother and beat her.

In his suit, Kenney claims that his wife accused him of molesting and Mr. Page as roomers against his wishes and declared to him that Mr. Page was a small fellow.

It was shown during the trial that Sheehy also had been named in the divorce action of a telephone official whose wife Sheehy afterward married.

LIQUOR TRIAL OF CLUB IS BEGUN

The entire executive staff of the Shasta Limited club, 1755 Seventh street, Oakland, whose membership is composed principally of Pullman porters, went to trial today before United States District Judge Robert Bann in San Francisco on a charge of violating the national prohibition act.

The club was raided by internal revenue agents recently and several bottles of whiskey, two flasks of gin and a bottle of vermouth confiscated. The officers said the vermouth and a flask of whiskey had been found on the sidewalk behind a bar and the remainder of the liquor was discovered in a locker in a room occupied by a club member.

The defendants, J. Larkin, president, J. D. Simmons, treasurer, and C. C. Robertson, secretary, contended that all of the liquor belonged to members. Two of the members were summoned as witnesses and testified that the liquor belonged to them and had not been sold to any of the other members.

Grand Jury Refuses To Indict Princess

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—A grand jury here today refused to indict Princess Della Patra, reputed niece of a former khedive of Egypt, who was charged by Rich Buehle with obtaining money under false pretenses. At present the princess is in New York City, but the money alleged to have been advanced her, some $6000 in cash and valuable jewelry, was given, he said, in Los Angeles. He declared she was to star in a moving picture depicting the life in Egypt and it was for this purpose that he had advanced her $6000 in cash. The jury, after hearing the story, refused to indict the princess.

NEW JURY MOVE LOST BY DOLSEN

Opening his own defense on the charge of criminal syndicalism for which he is on trial before Judge James G. Quinn, J. H. Dolsen, alleged state secretary of the Communist Labor Party, today made a motion for a special jury panel on the grounds that the so-called "de luxe" panel was biased and prejudiced. The motion was denied.

Making his argument to the court after the panel had been excused from the courtroom, Dolsen declared the panel was composed of society women and retired capitalists and that the press had commented upon this fact.

Answering this declaration, Deputy District Attorney Myron Harris, conducting the case for the prosecution said:

"The attitude taken by this defendant is the attitude taken by all these alleged 'under' against American institutions and the courts. Because jurors and officers of the court do not favor their ideas of violence against the government, these people declare them to be biased. The position taken by the district attorney's office and the jurors is the only attitude that could be taken by good Americans."

"You forget that other good Americans might have a different point of view," declared Dolsen.

"They cannot be good Americans and have a different point of view," retorted Harris.

In declaring the jury panel prejudiced and biased, Dolsen said: "Being society women and retired capitalists the interests of these jurors are necessarily against the views of myself. They are therefore prejudiced before hearing any evidence."

After asking Dolsen if he had any other grounds for making his motion, and receiving a negative answer, Judge Quinn denied the motion and the jury was empaneled.

The first twelve names called included Mrs. Kate P. Husband and George W. Howell who had served on the Wiener jury and they were excused for cause when challenged by Dolsen. The so-called "de luxe" jurors now being examined for their qualifications are: Ellis G. Hall, John Conrad, Mrs. Gertrude J. MacDonald, Louis Hinch, C. W. Smith, Mrs. Elsie H. Vorheiser, James Nolan, William C. Holmken, H. C. Pendleton, C. W. Beam, George M. Morrow, J. W. McManus.

Dolsen showed considerable knowledge of law and court procedure in conducting his own defense.
